INTRODUCTION

BY MIKE CAREY

You remember when First was part a gothic horror spaghetti Western with some spectacularly dramatic action sequences and a pervasively engaging killer hero? It was lots of fun back then, wasn't it? But it was beyond being "lots of fun" a good while back now, and it's currently evolving into one of the most enthralling unpredictable stories in the entire medium.

"Evolving" seems like a good word to use, because the way Mixx-Moon through storylines is developing has qualities that you tend to meet at the extreme edges of the Korean comic world (like a gritty or a dark-bite plotline), it leaves you gaping at first look and then, when you look again (as you have to), it seems (except only but momentarily) right.

From a start point that was already a well-trodden of different genres, the story has expanded to cover three distinct periods (the separate plots converging in some totally unexpected ways) and to include—alongside the recent action that we've come to take for granted—a compelling mystery, a poignant romance and a meditation on faith and predestination. And it never telegraphs a single period.

There's a moment in the fifth volume when the ineptitude, selfish Giovanni, is wading his way around his fingers, contemplating the challenge posed to his faith and his reflections by the horrific, De Galloway—and he reacts, wading too lightly, slipping, getting the heads and the cross onto the floor. Giovanni starts down at them vaguely puzzled, as though he's not quite sure how this happened. This is a pivotal event in one way, but symbolically it's one of the central moments of the book, conveying the message that any faith that is adhered to too rigidly will sooner or later slip. We've now seen the moment of fracture in the case of De Galloway, who his wife and children are burned alive, and we're about to see it in the case of how Giovanni seven centuries later in the American West. It remains to be seen how things are going to work out for the contemporary protagonist, Father Simon Talbot.

And as I write this I'm thinking back to a recent in book two where her desk with a jack of murdering zombies by throwing a stick of dynamite into their midst and then detonating it with a bullet from his revolver. Not many books have succeeded in fusing such unabashed and exhilarating action with such spiky intellectual wit. Let's face it, not many books have even tried.

So here we are, in the middle of at least three stories, with the great slow column of the dozen parables rising out of all of these "like a blasphemous insect, pointing at himself" (as Murray Prime would say). And the background details are just beginning to be polished in, in a fourth story that deals with paleontologists and ancient cataclysms. Oh, and we've got a devil imprisoned at large with the mortal man he tormented and destroyed along for company. A railroad line designed to draw a blasphemous soul across the American desert. An infectious love that is equally sympathetic and hopelessly doomed. The Vatican's secret strike force. A single man taking on the might of the Inquisition so ruthlessly that you honestly don't know which end is worse. Every chapter adds a new layer of queasy delight.

The very best comic books tend to give me exactly this combination of feelings: the feeling that I really can't make any predictions about how it's all going to come out, and the determination, whenever it goes, to be along right to the end of the ride. TORMENTOR is doing a service to us all by making this incredible series available in English. But as I wait for the next volume I feel as if my own merry bands are going to get round up tighter, and tighter, and tighter...

THE STORY SO FAR...

In the beginning, God created man in his image and looked upon them and said, "THEY ARE GOOD." Unlike the angels who served him, mankind was not allowed to look upon God in life, and so was born the concept of Faith. While all men were sacred to God, not all men acknowledged his existence or honored his name, for they were granted a gift unique among all God's creations—Free Will. One of God's angels, His messenger Temozarela, became enraged that God would show more love for these flawed mortal beings than he did for his original creations, the seraphim. Having gathered 12 followers, Temozarela abandoned his post in heaven in order to turn mankind against God.

Many years later, a particularly righteous group of God's followers took it upon themselves to travel hundreds of miles to recapture the land of Jesus' birth. During these Crusades, the Knight Templar Vascar de Bulliken came upon the ruins of an ancient cult that had built monuments to Temozarela and his minions. The spirit of Temozarela himself came to Sir Vascar and occupied the knight's body. For the next hundred years, Temozarela and his followers, in their human hosts, wandered the Holy Land, slaughtering all they encountered.

Eventually the unholy knights returned to Europe where Temozarela was put on trial for heresy. The heretic prosecutor Bethael Gavane sentenced Sir Vascar/Temozarela to torture and execution. From his dungeon prison, Temozarela manipulated the mind of Bethael's ward, a young boy named Matthew, causing him to commit atrocities so horrific that Bethael cursed the name of God.

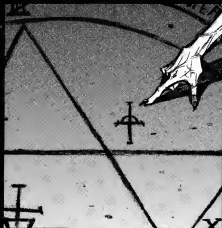

In the remote Storebale Abbey, located somewhere in the frontier of the American West, Ivan Isaacs, a young religious scholar, made about this forgotten history in his quest to unlock the secrets of the Domus Parada. We now return to his research...

THANK YOU FOR SEEMING AND ON SHORT
NOTICE, MISS ISAACS.

IT'S ABOUT
IVAN...

HE'S BEEN DEPRESSED
EVER SINCE LEAVING OLDBURY.

HE TOLD ME ABOUT HIS FEELINGS
FOR YOU...

ON SOME WAYS I FEEL RESPONSIBLE FOR HIS CURRENT STATE.

AFTER ALL I'M THE
ONE WHO TOOK HIM
FROM YOU BEFORE HE WAS DEAD.

IVAN
IS A GOOD MAN...

BUT I AM CONVINCED THAT WHAT HE REALLY WANTS...

...IS TO LIVE HIS LIFE WITH YOU.

...AND HE COULD MAKE A FINE PRIEST.

IT WAS A DIFFICULT
CHOICE...

...BUT IVAN
HAS DECIDED TO FOLLOW
HIS HEART.

THIS...

BE...

I BELIEVE THAT IT
IS GOD'S WILL...

WILL YOU GO TO HUNT?

HE IS WAITING FOR YOUR REPLY...

I
BELIEVE
IT...

FOR IVAN
TO LEAVE THE CLERGY
AND BE WITH THE ONE HE LOVES.

I JUST
IT...

I'VE

...TOO
LONG...

...MY WHOLE

...FOR THE MOMENT TO COME!

GE—

GENA!!!

GENA!!!

IF YOU TOUCH
HER...

...I'LL KILL
YOU!!

THAT LACK OF SELF-
CONFIDENCE IS...

...NOW MAKING
YOU GO AGAINST GOD'S WILL!

!!

WHY DO
REFUSE
TO SEE
?!?!

AREN'T YOU
THE ONE WHO GAVE UP LOVE
BECAUSE OF YOUR LACK OF SELF-
CONFIDENCE?

HOW
LONGER
...

...WILL YOU
BE IN CONTEMPT
OF GOD'S WILL?

CRANK!

CRANK

CRANK

CRANK

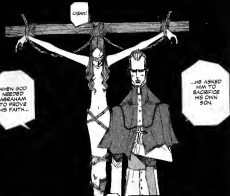

CRANK

I'M SORRY TO HAVE TO DO THIS IVAN.

BUT IT'S FOR
OWN GOODS

WHEN GOD
NEEDED
ABRAHAM
TO PROVE HIS FAITH...

...HE ASKED
HIM TO SACRIFICE
HIS OWN SON.

THE DOCTRINE OF COMPASSION IS OVER.

THE WINDS OF CONDEMNATION
WILL SWEEP ACROSS THE EARTH.

THOSE WHOSE
STANDS
WILL MEET GOD'S KINGDOM.

...BUT THE WIND OF SPIRIT SHALL BE BLOWN
AWAY LIKE CHAFF FROM THE STALK.

STOP

STOP...

EVAN...

WHY ARE YOU?

BUT BEFORE
ABRAHAM CARRIED OUT THE ACT...

GOD STAYED HIS HAND
AND SAVED THE BOY.

THINGS HAVE

INDIFFERENCE AND APATHY SHALL NO LONGER
POLLUTE OUR CHURCH!

IN THE NAME OF
THE GOD OF CONDEMNATION!

BLESSED VIRGIN...

PLEASE
SINS!!!
